

BERNHARD LANGER

Q. You've gone through so many of these, but what's it like with the rain?

BERNHARD LANGER: Nobody likes it, nobody wants it. We feel terrible for the sponsors, the organizers, but hopefully the forecast will be good tomorrow afternoon and Sunday and we'll make up for all the holes that we missed today.

Right now you can see it's standing water everywhere and there's more coming, and it's lightning. Just no way to play golf. And it's going to take the crew several hours to clean this up whenever it stops. So as you probably know, we're supposed to be in place at 7:30 a.m., but not sure we're going to play at 7:30 a.m., but they have to try and get us out there.

Q. If it's really bad, they can just make it a 36-hole tournament?

BERNHARD LANGER: Right.

Q. Tomorrow's not supposed to be too good, either, I don't think.

BERNHARD LANGER: No. Tonight is really bad and tomorrow morning is not good. I personally think we're going to play some tomorrow starting around noon, but I don't know. And then Sunday looks great. So I think tomorrow afternoon and Sunday look pretty good, but will they be able to get the course ready? How much do we get today and tonight, that's the question.

Q. Did you even tee off?

BERNHARD LANGER: I played three holes, yeah. I've got 51 to go or something. Either that or whatever, I don't know.
